

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a roof for a convertible vehicle including a folding roof supported by a linkage mounted to the vehicle body with a roof cover material extending over the linkage wherein the folding roof is movable between a closed position, in which it
5 covers an interior vehicle space, and a storage position, in which it is deposited in a folding roof storage space, a rigid rear roof part is provided, which is supported by the vehicle body in a closed position when the folding roof is in a closed position and also when the folding roof is stored in the roof
10 storage space.